Korean Plays In Hard Luck—Wagon Smashed, Horse Hurt, And Damage Money Stolen—Suspected Friend Freed Of Charge

Sur Sun Goon, Korean, was on last Friday morning the happy possessor of $50 in gold, and a big supply of horse liniment. He had recently received both from Alex. McNicoll as balm for his horse's legs and for his own feelings.

For Sur and his horse and wagon were the victims of the smash-up at Paia, about two weeks ago, with the popular breakfast foreman's automobile, as noted in last week's Maui News.

As just stated, Sur was happy last Friday morning. He was decidedly otherwise on Friday night, for his money had disappeared and all he had left was the horse liniment.

As a result of the disappearance of the coin, a warrant was issued for Yee Too Yong, a frequenter of Sur Sun's domicile, who was haled into police court last Tuesday morning on the charge of second degree larceny. But Sur couldn't make his suspicions connect up with facts, so the prisoner was discharged, and Sur is still sad.

now being made of the fair grounds preliminary to filling in the low lands between now and the time of the fair, for which purpose $10,000 was recently made available. As soon as these preliminaries are completed it is expected that a contract will be made with the Kahului Railroad to do the work as speedily as possible.

Ask Help From Legislature

Considerable pessimistic sarcasm was indulged in by members of the chamber when the proposition to ask the legislature for financial help for the Maui fair came up. Such a request would last about like a snowball in Hilo, was the way one member put it. The bill for $25,000 as a revolving fund for Oahu's county fair, which is now enroute through the legislature, makes no provision for Maui or other county getting use of the fund when it is not being used by Honolulu, though this had been understood would be done.

A motion that the chamber ask the legislature for a similar revolving fund for Maui's fair was defeated.

Without any great hope the chamber did adopt a motion of Frank Baldwin that the legislature be asked to appropriate $10,000 for the construction of a territorial building to be erected on the Maui fair grounds, such building to house territorial and outside county exhibits, and to provide space for federal department exhibits as well. It was quite clear however, that the members do not expect anything from the territory in the way of appropriations except through the loan fund and which Maui will alone pay for with interest.

Continuation Court Term Approved

After some little discussion the chamber went on record as approving the bill now in the legislature providing for a continuous term of court for Maui, the same as is now the rule in the other parts of the Territory.

Electric Franchise For Wailuku

The matter of getting better electric light and power for Wailuku was discussed at considerable length but no action was taken. It was reported that a move is on foot to get a new franchise or to compel the holders of the present franchise to adequately serve the community. Some very bitter arraignment of the present company was made by various members.

Demand Action On Lahaina Wharf

A decided disposition was evinced to demand that an end be put to the dilapidating in the matter of a wharf for Lahaina. Vice-President William Walsh, who presided, declared that the wharf could be built that could and would be used by the Inter-Island as well as by deep-sea vessels. Various members stated that Mafager Collins, of the Pioneer Mill Co., is anxious to see a wharf built.

It was urged by various speakers that the bill appropriating $200,000 for beginning such a wharf be pushed in the legislature, and it was decided to appoint a permanent committee to get behind the project and to make a determined effort to get some concrete results.

The chairman thereupon named on this committee—A. W. Collins, E. R. Bevins, D. C. Lindsay, H. B. Penhallow, and William Walsh.

Maui Items Reinserted In Loan Bill

E. R. Bevins reported that while in Honolulu last week Governor McCarthy had consulted him on the matter of loan fund items for Maui, and upon his recommendation all of the measures for Maui in the former loan bill had been reinserted in the new one just introduced.

The death occurred March 3, in San Francisco, where he had lived for nearly 20 years since leaving the Islands. Capt. Heinemann was at one time manager of the Paia Store. He was an uncle of Arthur Waul, formerly Lahaina postmaster, and was 68 years of age when he died.

Wants Bill To Create New Tourist Bureau

After studying reports of government tourist bureaus of Pacific lands, the Foreign Trade Club last week urged the passage of a bill in the legislature here, creating a non-salaried commission of seven men to organize a modern tourist and information bureau, that would receive its financial support from the government, says the Advertiser.

It was argued that a commission was needed that would find the professional men who could conduct a tourist and information bureau, and then keep its hands off. One after another, those present at the meeting said they could not successfully conduct their business if hampered by a group of men who met weekly to advise them, especially if they were men appointed from different lines of business. It was instanced that the successful tourist bureaus were those conducted by professional tourist men.

P. L. Weaver spoke of the successful manner in which the Library of Hawaii was conducted, the directors employing a staff of professionals, not lining the general policy, and meeting but once a month on financial matters.

CALLS FOR BIDS FOR HANA WHARF

The board of harbor commissioners on Tuesday began taking steps to advertise for sealed tenders for the construction of a reinforced concrete pile supported wharf at Hana, Maui. The advertisements sent to papers on all islands specify that bids will be received by the board up to 2 p. m. on April 2. The Territory is furnishing sand, steel, rock and considerable other material which will enter into the construction of the wharf.

REPORTER WANTS DAMAGES FROM SERGEANT-AT-ARMS

Suit for damages in the sum of $5000 was started in circuit court in Honolulu this week by Arthur L. Mackaye, a reporter for The Advertiser, against David F. A case charging assault is pending against Notley in police court and the matter of the altercation is also under investigation by the rules committee of the senate.

There are 1800 men in the regiment.

STATE OF WEST VIRGINIA PUT BOOZE IN ARCHIVES

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Feb. 28—(Associated Press)—Three quarts of whiskey-rye, bourbon and Scotch will be placed in the archives of West Virginia for the reference of future generations, in event Governor John J. Cornwell signs a bill recently passed by the Senate and concurred in by the House.

Passage of the bill was secured, it is said, by pressing upon the Senate the fact that John Barleycorn is due to draw his "last breath" in the near future, and that, as whiskey will become but a thought of the past, it would be well to place the three samples in the state archives, so that generations to be may look upon them and say "We have seen it."

Local Draft Board To Close Office March 31

All of the selective draft boards in the territory, except the central board in Honolulu, will go out of existence at the end of this month. This information was received this week by Chairman J. J. Walsh, of the Maui board from Maj. Gooding Field, on orders received from Washington. The Maui board is instructed to pack up all its records and ship them to Honolulu, and to advertise and sell such office fixtures as it owns, at once.

Chairman Walsh has notified all creditors who may have claims against the board which have not been submitted, that unless the same are in before March 31 they will not be considered.

The Honolulu board will carry through an investigation of a big batch of draft delinquents and deserters before it finally quits business also.

Four Women Now Occupy Seats In Utah Legislature

SALT LAKE CITY, March 8—(Associated Press)—Four women occupy seats in the thirteenth Utah legislature. One is in the senate and three are in the house. It is not considered a novelty to have women legislators in Utah, and they always have consistently worked for laws affecting the welfare of women and children. Utah's women legislators are: Mrs. Elizabeth Hayward, Salt Lake, Democrat, senator.

Mrs. Delora Wilkins Blakely, Mrs. Anna T. Piercey and Dr. Grace Stratton-Airey, all of Salt Lake, and all democrats.

The women legislators unite in asking, "why should the law provide for an eight-hour day for men and a nine-hour day for women?" They also are interested in equal wages for equal work for both men and women.

Mrs. Hayward, in the senate, believes in equalization of the work day and for equalization of wages. Other legislation advocated by Mrs. Hayward is a change in the minimum wage law.

Representative, Mrs. Blakely has openly declared for an eight hour law for women and other legislation affecting her sex. She also advocates legislation providing for improved and extended educational conditions and Americanization of aliens.

The cannery will start operations with more than 125 employees in the plant, and a number on the nearby roads and land. The winery employed less than a score of persons.

"We may disseminate less cheer, but we'll send out more money in wages," says the one-time vintner, now cannery.

Influenza On Down Grade All Over Maui

The influenza epidemic is now on the decline in practically all parts of Maui, and unless a recurrence of the trouble occurs the island should be about in normal condition within another week or two.

Lahaina, where the outbreak started several weeks before any other part of the island was affected, has been practically free from the disease for two weeks. Wailuku district still has considerable sickness, but the number of new cases is apparently dropping off.

Puunene, which has been seriously hit, is apparently on the mend, although between 20 and 30 new cases are still reported some days. This section has had in all over 3000 cases with 7 or 8 deaths.

Other up-country districts still report the disease, but it is believed that in practically all sections the peak has been reached.

California Big Wineries Are Now Canneries

RIVERSIDE, Cal., March 8—(Associated Press)—Wineries in this district are turning to canneries, and instead of nearby farmers driving up to depart with a barrel of wine, the former vintners plan to have their own trucks travelling the network of roads, and bringing fruits and vegetables to the canning tables.

One of the largest wineries in California, long in operation at Wineville near here, will convert its plant, taking out the old machinery, and installing the latest and best in equipment for handling fruits and vegetables. It has ordered the first few units, and will be ready to operate this season. It also has ordered a number of auto trucks, which will be used through the surrounding country to bring the products to the cannery.

Staples will be canned as the first operation; there will be units devoted to peaches, apricots, tomatoes, cauliflower, cabbage, pumpkin and similar products; later, cucumber pickles will be put up, and orange marmalade will furnish another run.

Incidentally, the company has taken on hundreds of acres of wine grapes, and substituted peach and other fruit trees, while quick crops of vegetables will be grown between the trees until they come into bearing.

The cannery will start operations with more than 125 employees in the plant, and a number on the nearby roads and land. The winery employed less than a score of persons.

"We may disseminate less cheer, but we'll send out more money in wages," says the one-time vintner, now cannery.

It is a somewhat unusual procedure but the court officials believe it is within the statutes and it is a matter of saving perhaps $200 to the county.

The court will consider the cases of three or four delinquent children on Molokai, who may have to be sent to reform schools. The matter of bringing them to Wailuku where there is no place but the jail in which to keep them, as well as the difficulty in bringing quite a number witnesses, was the cause of mountains going to Mohammed.

director. The certificate also has a reproduction of a letter of appreciation and thanks to the Four-Minute speakers from President Wilson.

There are 17 Four-Minute Men on Maui, 14 of whom were present last night. For about three hours there was a general discussion, each member being called upon to contribute something on the subjects at hand. For the most part the talk concerned the proposed league of nations which is being formed in Europe, and was highly interesting. As a result of the discussion it was decided that the organization should arrange to hold a public debate on the great question within the next two weeks, and a committee consisting of J. J. Walsh, D. H. Case and Will J. Cooper was named to make the necessary arrangements. The debate is to have two men on each side, and will probably be held at the Kahului Community House. An opportunity will possibly be given the public generally to take some part in the discussion.

Americanism First

A number of the speakers discussed the matter of Americanism, particularly from the standpoint of language schools in the territory, and it was evident that the sentiment of those present was strongly opposed to a dual language system of instruction for younger children.

Following the decision to perpetuate the organization, R. A. Wadsworth was chosen president. It is the plan to hold meetings from time to time to discuss questions of the day, both local and national.
